

You can create teams of different types in Microsoft Teams

Metropolia's and some Metropolia's partners staff members are able to create teams of different types in Microsoft Teams. Take a look at the instructions on Metropolia IT Services' web pages.

We have noticed that some members of the groups mentioned above, haven't been able to select the team type when they are creating a new team in Teams. If you are lacking the Select team type -window mentioned in the instructions, please let us know by contacting us with the contact information in the end of this announcement. We will change your license type so that you will be able to select the team type as supposed.
